Dear David,

It was really a pleasure to see you at Fred's today, or yesterday, as the case may be. This budding appreciation of logic. I hope you're well. Be sure to take some vitamin E to preserve your lungs from the smog.

Someday hopefully we will yet be able to hash at philosophical horizons. In the past I have generally been too ignorant. So far as I am able to formulate relatively clear questions I will write, whatever the news. Philosophy: preferably on some strenuous wavelength, like hiking in the mountains or something. Ski mountaineering?

I'll try to let you know how the bike trek progresses, etc.

You are getting better at responding to us ignorant skeptics, a little better. There is something tremendously democratic about questions. Perhaps every true 'philosophy' should be translatable into questions accessible to common and untrained understandings, to a clarification of the allegory of logic, to Ludwig Wittgenstein, Mike Fellows, Fred Weisaupt, etc. Why?

Your Friend,

Mike
