Dear David,

The First Postscript:

The military is like an attic, where the concerns of our forefathers lie stuffed in old boxes. ^{rummaging through this junk} One could laugh at how ridiculous is collective passion at its highest degree of excitement, before reaching annihilation.

"The most perfect thing, was flawed."

Lao Tzu

The military stands in the same relation to service, as law does to integrity?

21. It is the contention of this appeal that such mundane concerns and questions are of significance to the dialogue of law and conscience.

22. The belief in human equality is contrary to abundant worldly evidence. It is the contention of this appeal that actions so meditated are comic.

23. Whole and individual honesty is peculiar. It is the contention of this appeal that honesty is legally humorous.

24. The pivotal issue is whether one can be criminally serious without being morally serious, and vice versa. It is the contention of this appeal that moral seriousness constitutes mental insanity, or criminal comedy.

25. It is the contention of this appeal that the Undesireable discharge was awarded unfairly. The discharge desired is "Honorable".
