And what would we be terminating? Our original exchange triple. Perhaps we should supercede this exchange 'center' with a project to work up a book, for publication and/or simply a correspondence 'hub' relating to these ideas, made up of letters from friends and graduates, results of surveys, notes from possible seminars, summary catalogues, more well argued, researched and Dear Dick, It's probably by the same turns of thought that led me to say we should be free to use all broadcast modes, that I would like to note now that we might as well propose a seminar without fooling with the false etiquette of needing an invitation, and so "head and prepare a hub book of our exchanges and all, about I.S. Continuity, for the shelves of P.I.S. Maybe for Clairemont and the other centers, we should clean it up and well argue it a little more, but we can talk that over. Anyway, so now we are going to do something and this is a change from the first letter or two! Hurray for us! Maybe all we will.

love, Mike

Dear Dick, (together)
If our main purpose is to propose and implement - to present structural (changes) ideas which can be incorporated into the existing program or supplement it, then perhaps we no longer have much use for letter exchanges with a listener. Now it would seem we would want and supportive considerations. However, we began with a visit to M. Lorch so let us terminate with a visit.
